God in the Middle

BY RABBI DAN LEVIN
DLEVIN@TBEBOCA.ORG

Once there was a man named Mr. Cohen, who faithfully attended Shabbat services every week. He always sat in the same place, next to his friend Mr. Schwartz, who also could be counted on to fill his seat each week. One day, the rabbi of the congregation invited Mr. Cohen to join the ritual committee.

“I wouldn’t be good for that committee. You see, I’m not a religious man. Now Mr. Schwartz, you should ask him. He’s a real pious Jew.”

“But you’re both at services each week,” said the rabbi. “How can you say you’re not religious, but Mr. Schwartz is?”

“That’s easy,” he said. “Each week Schwartz comes to services to talk to God. I come each week to talk to Schwartz.”

Mr. Cohen may think he’s not religious, but I would differ with him. The fact is that being Jewish is about being part of a community. Judaism is predicated on the idea that we build a relationship with God through building holy relationships amongst one another as people. When we learn in the book of Leviticus that we must strive to be holy, the idea is simple: love your neighbor as yourself.

Jews don’t do anything alone. From the moment we came together as a people at Mount Sinai, Judaism has been about community. We need ten to come together to form a minyan for prayer. We are commanded to celebrate the birth of each other’s children, to welcome them as they mature into adulthood. We dance at each other’s weddings, we visit each other when we’re ill, we mourn each other’s losses. We invite the needy to share from our plenty and to sit at our seder tables. God is found in the middle; in the nexus of real meeting and relationship.

In the last few weeks, I have spent quite a bit of time studying the Pew Research Center’s portrait of Jewish Americans. The study shows a remarkable paradox. The largest percentage of American Jews align themselves with Reform Judaism, but only 25 percent of people who identified as Reform Jews thought being a part of the Jewish community was essential to a Jewish identity.

We seem to believe more and more that Judaism can be privatized, that we can fashion for ourselves individual experiences that need not require a connection to each other or a synagogue.

Every year, around this time, Temple Beth El begins to plan its program calendar for the following year. Volunteers and staff spend hours trying to plan a calendar of events that will entice the various constituencies of our congregation to participate in what we hope will be transformative religious experiences. And the programs and services we dream up are creative and innovative, and offer

Six degrees of separation is the theory that everyone and everything is six or fewer steps away by way of introduction from any other person in the world. We can realize remarkable connections in only six steps. This idea was made popular by the game, “Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon”, in which movie buffs challenge each other to find the shortest path between any actors at all and the actor Kevin Bacon.

We can play a similar game at Temple Beth El. All we need to do is look around to see how connected we are to each other, to our clergy, to other Jews in Boca Raton and to the world of Judaism.

This year we are focusing on a number of new initiatives, and a few existing ones, which will help you realize and strengthen your connections here at Temple Beth El. We encourage you to dive in, participate and connect. Once you do, you will realize you are only six short steps away from forming the meaningful connections you need here at TBE.

ONLINE MEMBERSHIP DIRECTORY – Have you ever wanted to track down someone you met at services or at Religious School Family Day to arrange a dinner plan or possibly a carpool? Well now you can. Starting this February, the Temple Beth El online membership directory will be available through your Chaver-Web account. Log in to your account at www.tbeboca.org to update your contact information, or to opt-out if you would like to keep your information private. Forgot your username and password? Contact Amie Levitz at alevitz@tbeboca.org or call 561/391-8900 and she will be glad to help you out.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES TOUR – Are you new to Temple Beth El or ever just wondered how things worked behind the scenes? Executive Director Steve Kaufman and a member of our clergy will lead you and a small group around the temple where you can meet some new people and gain insight into some of our history and how we do things.

SHABBAT-ON-THE-GO – Shabbat comes to you in a local park or community clubhouse, making for a smaller and more intimate Shabbat setting. Our clergy will lead an informal Shabbat service for a small group, followed by Kiddush and Oneg where you can get to know some of your neighbors and fellow TBE members. The first will be for young families at Boca Center on February 7, (see page 11) but look for more to be announced this year.

Dina and Andrew Schwartz

Dina and Andrew Schwartz have two kids Ethan and Jasper. Ethan attends Boca High, Jasper attends Verde Elementary and they both are enrolled in Religious School. Ethan is in Derech Torah and Jasper is in fifth grade. Andrew just played in the Brotherhood Golf Tournament and Dina is a past Board Member. They live down the street from Rabbi Dan Levin.

Rabbi Dan and Aimee Levin

Rabbi Dan and Aimee Levin have three children, Ari and Meredith who attend Spanish River High School and are in BOFTY and Eliana who attends Donna Klein Jewish Academy. Many temple members have children who attend both of these schools. Rabbi Dan recently went on the Israel trip with Tracey and Gabe Grossman and their family where they presented a Torah to an Ethiopian congregation in Jerusalem. powerful experiences for those who participate. But what we’re learning nationwide, and from our own strategic planning, is that no matter how compelling our programs, no matter how meaningful our services, it’s not enough. What’s just as important as powerful Jewish experiences are powerful Jewish relationships. Dr. Ron Wolfson, in his book Relational Judaism, teaches us that “Rather than spending all our time planning events and hoping people show up, let’s begin with the people: Welcome them, hear their stories, identify their talents and passions, care about them and for them — and then craft programs that engage them with the Jewish experience.”

This is part of Temple Beth El’s new mission. And we are crafting programs to help us inspire meaningful experience along with meaningful relationships – like our Night of 50 Shabbat Dinners where we will open our homes and join new friends in celebrating the gift of Shabbat together (see p. 11).

But we need you. We need you to come out of your comfort zone and invest in the power of community. Connect with new friends or reconnect with old friends. We need a synagogue not only where Schwartz can talk to God, but where Cohen gets to talk to Schwartz.

But we need you. We need you to come out of your comfort zone and invest in the power of community. Connect with new friends or reconnect with old friends. We need a synagogue not only where Schwartz can talk to God, but where Cohen gets to talk to Schwartz. And if we truly build a relational community, then we will realize that talking to God and talking to each other are both profoundly religious acts.
A MESSAGE FROM PATTY BECK

New Horizons, New Relationships

I recently experienced my first Jewish Federation of South Palm Beach County leadership mission to Israel. I did not know most of the people I was traveling with but felt that I would expand my horizons and share a week with this new group. The members of the group were from Orthodox, Conservative, and Reform Judaism. To us, we were all Jews traveling to the Holy Land to learn and experience Israel differently than when we went with our children or visited relatives who live there. Each day of the trip there was more conversation and interaction with people who were becoming friends. I interacted with other Jews from the Boca Raton area and learned about aspects of the larger Jewish world and Israel that I had not known before. Our paths had not crossed before that I know of, but the genuinely committed people that I met during this adventure have now become friends who will engage me in the larger Jewish world and I hope to engage them in our Temple Beth El world. To share the Holy Land with new friends made me feel so lucky that I had the opportunity to develop these new relationships.

The Temple Beth El Mausoleum Welcomes a New Director

We are pleased to announce the appointment of Dave Oney to the position of Mausoleum Director. For nearly three years Dave has been part of our Temple Beth El family, assisting the Development Department and the Torah Project.

After graduating college with a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, Dave worked for ten years at Johnson & Johnson as a polymer chemist, analytical chemist, microscopist and finally Microscopy Lab Manager where he oversaw product analysis for research and patent litigation.

Dave then joined Cambridge Instruments where he became the North American Sales and Marketing Manager for Electron-Optics and Image Analysis. When offered the opportunity to move from Buffalo, New York to pursue an entrepreneurial opportunity in Ft. Lauderdale, Dave and his family headed south.

Since moving to Florida, Dave has been very involved in Jewish life and organizations, ultimately holding several leadership positions at his synagogue Beth Orr in Coral Springs, as well as his current position as Executive First Vice President of the national organization Men of Reform Judaism (MRJ). In 2006, when his synagogue asked him to become their full time Administrator, he knew that a career which strengthened Jewish life and traditions was meant for him.

Dave brings tremendous analytical, marketing, sales, and managerial skills to the position of Mausoleum Director. However, it is his knowledge of Jewish traditions and his caring, soft spoken manner which makes him uniquely suited to advise and counsel people on their end-of-life decisions. Please stop by the next time you are visiting and spend a few minutes acquainting or re-acquainting yourself with our newest TBE Director.
YOU’RE INVITED!
New Member Meet & Greet
at Rabbi Levin’s House
Sunday, January 12, 2014
from 2:00-4:00 PM

Look for your invitation in the mail

All members new to Temple Beth El in the past year are invited to attend an Open House at the home of Rabbi Dan and Aimee Levin. This is a wonderful opportunity to get to know our clergy, staff and other new members in our Temple Beth El family. This event welcomes singles, couples and families with children of all ages, and is a true reflection of our richly diverse and welcoming Beth El community.

The New Member Meet & Greet is hosted by our Membership Committee. Please RSVP online at www.tbeboca.org/special-events or by contacting Rachael Rand, Congregational Engagement Coordinator at 561/391-8900 or rrand@tbeboca.org.

AN INTERVIEW WITH BETH EL BASH CO-CHAIRS, Jennifer Shapiro & Cheryl Runsdorf

TBE: What is the Beth El Bash?
CR: An evening of fabulous food, dancing and spectacular auction items to benefit Temple Beth El. (Remember, we provide over $400,000 in financial aid to members each year.)

TBE: Why did you decide to chair it?
JS: Rabbi Dan asked me to, and no one can say “no” to Rabbi Dan!

TBE: What kind of party will it be?
JS: The party of the century!

TBE: What’s on the menu?
CR: A delicious array of international foods.

TBE: Why does Temple Beth El need a benefit?
JS: So we can continue to raise funds to support all those who want to be part of the Temple Beth El family.

TBE: Why should I go? What’s the highlight of the evening?
CR: There will be many fun surprises in store!

TBE: Who’s it for? Who’s coming?
JS: It’s for everyone and we hope that people RSVP early as space is limited. Online registration is available now.

TBE: What if I don’t know anybody who’s going?
CR: It’s a great opportunity to make new friends! But if you have a group of people you are going with, we are honoring seating requests.

TBE: Are there any good auction items?
JS: Absolutely! Fine jewelry, Italian cooking classes, artwork, restaurant gift cards, spa days and more.

TBE: How can people help make the event a success?
CR: Sponsorship and donations would be very much appreciated. All levels are welcomed.
If you would like to sponsor the event or make a donation, visit the website, www.tbeboca.org/beth-el-bash or call Director of Development, Eliza Prince-Atias at 561/391-8900.

HERE’S HOW IT WORKS
On Friday, February 28, 2014, Temple Beth El families will serve as hosts in their homes, inviting members of the congregation to be their guests for Shabbat dinner.

To start the evening, all households will gather via conference call with our rabbis and cantorial soloists who will lead us in Shabbat blessings. Then spend the rest of the evening enjoying Shabbat among old friends and new, brought together as part of our Temple Beth El family.

If you would like to be a HOST or GUEST, register online at www.tbeboca.org/special-events, contact Nina Finkel at 561/391-8900 or fill out a flyer available in the member lounge. Deadline: Friday, February 14, 2014.

You may request to be paired with friends or family. After you register, we will be in touch to let you know with whom and where you’ll be spending Shabbat!

GUEST DONATION:
$10 per single ~ $18 per couple
$25 per family. (A portion of the proceeds will go to Jewish Family Services Food Bank)

There will be a brief Shabbat evening service at Temple Beth El at 5:30 PM for those who wish to attend or are observing Yahrzeit and saying Kaddish.

Made Possible By A Grant From Jewish Federation of South Palm Beach County
Over 30 families are enjoying fresh produce delivery at TBE Beck Family Campus, and now deliveries will start at main campus too! The produce will be delivered every other Tuesday starting January 21, 2014.

American Presidents, Israel and the Jewish Community – Kennedy, Lincoln and Washington

Tuesdays, February 4, 11, 18 and 25 at Temple Beth El Main Campus
12:00-1:00PM

Rabbi Ron Kaplan and Rabbi Jessica Spitalnic Brockman

Marking our American celebration of “Presidents Day” and in light of the 150th anniversary of Lincoln’s Gettysburg Address and the Emancipation Proclamation, this series will examine Kennedy, Lincoln and Washington and the unique impact each of them had in their relationship with the Jewish community, Israel and how this tied into their presidency.

Rabbi Ronald W. Kaplan recently retired from the pulpit after 13 years as spiritual leader at Temple Beth Am and is in private practice at The Shalom Center in Metro-West New Jersey, offering spiritual and clinical psychotherapy for individuals, couples and families. This June, Rabbi Kaplan celebrated thirty-three years in the rabbinate since his ordination in 1980 at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was awarded the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree. In 1995, Rabbi Kaplan earned an academic doctorate in Pastoral Care and Counseling from the Post-Graduate Center for Mental Health in New York City. He is a certified chaplain by the National Jewish Chaplaincy Service, and a crisis-intervention counselor with the American Red Cross.

In our busy lives, we have trouble making time to learn in the traditional Jewish way – in study, with others, on a regular basis. And yet, learning is why we as a people are able to keep our traditions alive.

There is a particular group of adults whose fruits of learning will be realized on Saturday, February 1 as they become Adult B’nai Mitzvah. These adults have studied with our clergy and educational staff to become well versed in Hebrew language, Jewish tradition and Torah. To hear them talk about how worship services have come alive from the knowledge they have gained, how much insight they have about the texts, and how impactful and challenging it was to experience intense Jewish learning as an adult will make you want to be part of this program in future years. We wish a hearty mazel tov to Alene Court, Suzan Goldstein, Marcia Namerow, Sydney Siegel and Maria Sinett.

Temple Beth El Main Campus

Fee: $360

Temple Beth El is pleased to offer a 13-week course taught by the clergy and other experts in the community. The course of study covers topics such as holidays, customs, life-cycle events, values, theology, prayers, rituals, Jewish texts, history and Hebrew. This course is useful for those who were born and raised as Jews but feel as though they never received a solid Jewish education, for those pursuing conversion or for those who do not intend to convert but are interested in learning more about Judaism. All are welcome.

Visit www.tbeboca.org/adult-education for more information, or contact Joanne Kabel at jkabel@tbeboca.org or 561/391-8900.

Hezbollah: The Global Footprint of Lebanon’s Party of God

with author, Matthew Levitt
Thursday, February 13 at 7:30 PM • Temple Beth El Main Campus

Hezbollah: The Global Footprint of Lebanon’s Party of God is the first thorough examination of Hezbollah’s covert activities beyond Lebanon’s borders, including its financial and logistical support networks and its criminal and terrorist operations worldwide. The author will give us a glimpse inside this powerful and terrifying organization.

Sponsored by the The Washington Institute for Near East Policy.
Matthew Levitt is a senior fellow and director of The Washington Institute for Near East Policy’s Stein Program on Counterterrorism and Intelligence. Dr. Levitt has written extensively on terrorism and countering violent extremism.

Temple Beth El has embraced a vision of one synagogue with two campuses. Unfortunately, for our Religious School students, it is hard to feel connected to the campus you do not attend! Building a sense of community and friendships with students at the other campus is challenging. To meet this challenge the Religious School has developed several new initiatives to help bridge the ten miles and create opportunities for students to get to know each other.

A school-wide change was put in place after I read Dr. Ron Wolfson’s book this past summer, Relational Judaism. It occurred to me that at the beginning of the year, teachers plan activities to help students get to know each other. After the first month of school, this often falls off their lesson plans. During our staff orientation we brainstormed different ways to help students get to know their classmates and form community within classrooms throughout the year. Each week, teachers must indicate what they are doing to build community and encourage student friendships. Our hope is that students will see Temple Beth El as an important place to develop new friendships.

This year we will be trying “cross-campus” programming. These are times during the year when the entire grade comes together at one campus for their lesson on a Sunday morning during regular Religious School hours. We are piloting this with just two grades to start and those grades will meet as a whole grade twice during the year, once on each campus to learn and socialize. The teachers are planning the lesson to include community building activities as well as a lesson related to their curriculum.

Another new initiative is our Sixth Grade Retreat. Retreat weekends have been part of our post Bar and Bat Mitzvah program for years. These weekend retreats have proven to be a successful program for our teens, providing Jewish education beyond the walls of our temple and building a strong community of our oldest students. In December we offered this opportunity to all of our 6th graders. We had an overnight filled with Jewish programming and social opportunities. By bringing together these students, it is our hope that as they enter Bar and Bat Mitzvah year, the 6th graders will feel that they are all connected to one another regardless of the campus that they attend during weekly classes.

These three initiatives all have a common thread: to help our students see Temple Beth El as an integral part of their community and a source of new and old friendships.

Campus Connections
Jonas Gaspari Mitzvah Project

My name is Jonas Gaspari, I am a seventh grade student at Temple Beth El. I am excited about celebrating my bar mitzvah in January, 2014. For my mitzvah project, I chose to get involved in a fantastic event that will be held next summer in Boca Raton. I would like to ask you to join me in support of the JCC Maccabi Games® hosted by the Adolph & Rose Levis JCC in Boca Raton, August 10-15, 2014. The games are the largest gathering of Jewish teens in the world, bringing together delegations from North America, Israel, and other countries for Olympic-style competitions and cultural and social events. There are so many ways for you to help, from hosting an athlete, sponsoring the games, donating sports equipment or volunteering.

For more information, log on to http://www.levisjcc.org/maccabi/jcc-maccabi-games-2014/. You will see video footage of previous athletes and get a sense of what the games are all about.

SENIOR CIRCLE
12. Diane and Gary Glick and the Klezmer Group
From the first time I was a member of Temple Beth El, I have felt at home. This feeling has allowed me to become very involved in all aspects of Temple life, from participating in Sisterhood, to social action projects, to being active on committees and on the board. I think to myself, how did this happen? I realize that when I came to the Temple I felt welcomed. People were interested in my story. Those people slowly became my friends. This is the concept behind Relational Judaism: making social and relationship connections with other members. Connecting people together to provide meaning and support is what Sisterhood is all about. In the last month we had our famous Bingotini which not only raised money for the multiple programs and projects which Sisterhood supports but also donated food to JFS (Jewish Family Service). We also enjoyed an evening with our paid up members at the Beiner’s Griffin Gallery. Bringing women together for an evening of learning, sharing and caring is the principle of Sisterhood, so in the future when a woman invites you to join in one of our events, please come and be a part of our Sisterhood family.

Dr. Stanley Cohen discussing his book “My Time with Einstein”

Listen to the author discuss “the truth about Einstein from a friend who really knew him,” culled from two years of driving the noted scientist around the New Jersey countryside. They met in the Princeton University Library, but Cohen says he learned more from the world-famous scientist than he ever got from a college course. Don’t miss this fascinating speaker!

Since childhood my father has impressed upon me that “Life is with people.”

It took me years to understand what he was talking about.

Of course, life is with people, I thought. Why is he telling me the obvious?

What I now appreciate in his words is the fact that the emphasis is on the WITH.

We can go through our lives skimming the surface of our own and others’ lives. But to truly know people and to care about them creates a human connection. This special link is an ideal that is advocated in Judaism and has practical value as well. Initiating and fostering quality relationships enriches our own lives and motivates us to be better human beings. Brotherhood and engaging in synagogue life offer many opportunities to connect with others.

Our 2013 Golf Event and fundraiser honoring Guy Fronstin and supporting Temple Beth El Brotherhood and the ADL Florida Region occurred November 18 with over 100 participants enjoying a day of golf at the prestigious Old Course at Broken Sound Country Club. Talk with someone who attended this year and you will be sure to register for 2014. Register for all upcoming events at www.tbeboca.org/brotherhood. With every good wish for a happy and healthy holiday season.
Honor the Memory

EAGLE SCOUT PROJECT

“My name is Daniel Mintz. I am 17 years old.” With these words, Temple member and Eagle Scout Daniel Mintz began a proposal to Executive Director Steve Kaufman and our Building and Operations Committee for his Eagle Scout Project, a required task for all Eagle Scouts. His dream was to enhance the environment around the Temple’s sculpture The Last Kaddish by Aharon Bezalel. Commissioned and donated by Anne and Henry Brenner in 1983, the work is in memory of the 6,000,000 Jews lost in the Holocaust. Daniel worked with several people on a design that would create a beautiful renewal of the space around the sculpture, taking one generation’s gift to the temple and renewing it for a future generation, all in memory of the victims of the Holocaust. As part of his research, Daniel interviewed a Holocaust survivor and did everything he could to design an atmosphere of tranquility in the space. Aided by his parents and his Eagle Scout troop 333, Daniel’s project will be re-dedicated with our middle and high school students on Tuesday, January 14 as part of the first night of Derech Torah on TBE’s Main Campus.

John F. Kennedy said, “Ever since David slew Goliath, the Jewish people have never considered youth a barrier to leadership.” Daniel has epitomized this in his vision of wanting to renew the gifts of past generations and honor the memory of the Holocaust. Next time you are in the courtyard at Temple Beth El Main Campus admire the work of his troop.

RECIPE COURTESY OF CHEZ GOURMET
TEMPE BETH EL’S EXCLUSIVE IN-HOUSE CATERER

BREAST OF CHICKEN WITH CURRIED PEAR & TOASTED ALMONDS

INGREDIENTS
2 lbs boneless, skinless chicken breast cutlets
1 tbsp lemon juice
Bread crumbs
½ cup white wine or sherry wine
1 egg
2 tbsp brown sugar
Olive oil
¼ cup chopped almonds – lightly toasted
2 large onions – diced
Salt and pepper to taste
2 or 3 ripe pears
Chopped fresh parsley for garnish
1 tbsp curry powder – or to taste

DIRECTIONS
Pound chicken cutlets to about ¼ inch thickness. Heat large sauté pan with olive oil until sizzling – but not too high. Dip chicken in egg and then in breadcrumbs and sauté quickly until lightly browned but not cooked through. Remove chicken from the sauté pan. Using the same pan, add more oil and then add onions. Sauté on medium heat until onions begin to caramelize (turn brown).

Reduce heat to simmering while you chop the pears coarsely. Toss the pears with the lemon juice and the curry powder and add to the onion mix. Simmer for about 10 minutes until the pears are tender. Add more curry powder if desired and season with salt and fresh ground pepper. Add the wine and brown sugar and simmer for about 5 more minutes. Preheat oven to 350 and place chicken in a baking pan or casserole dish. Top with the onion/pear mixture and the toasted almonds and bake in the oven for about 10 minutes uncovered. (This sauce would also be excellent with fish, duck or lamb.)
